is the name given to the broad expanse of water between the month of James River and the cntranca into Chesapaske Bay, Newport News Point on the north side and Pig Point on the south, at the junction of the Nansemond with the James. Between these two prints the disisnce is about five miles. Cranoy Island lies at the menth of Elizabeth river, some six or seven miles east of Pig Point. Sewell's I'oint is about the same distance north of Crancy Island. There four points form, therefore, vory nearly a parallelogram. Old Point is five miles north of Sewe'l's Point. Along the northern shore of the Roads it is believed no batteries have been erected, and the Lincoln troops may be disomharked without any resistance. If the reduction of Richmond is the object, as the signs seem to indicate, the murch of the Federal srmy from Newport News will be ninely miles. But whether the invasion is made with one or three columns. it will require an army of overwhelming force and the highest state of discipline to cut its way

As we suntered among the pillers of the basement of the old huilding, we fell in with a vonerable looking man, who seemed to be there upon the same business that we wern. We entered into conversation with him and he informed us that he was a Vi ginia man, raised a Vernun, "Very likely, then," we remarked, "you may recollect General Washingtor?" "Porfectly well," he replied. "Indeed, I saw him when he laid the foundation of this building. I was but a boy then," he continued, "but I remember very distinctly how he looked when he tood is this way over the store and sattled it in him when he laid the foundation of this building. I was but a boy then," he continued, "but I remember very distinctly how he looked when he stood in this way over the atone and settled it in its place which must have required no little atrength to remove it. But the General was a very athletic man, and moved it apprently with ease. There were a number of boys there from our neighborhood, and it was a standing marvet to us all how the General moved that stone. A few days after the General happened to be riding by our school house on hurseback, as we were pluying outside. We pulled off our hats to him, and be stoped and spoke to us very pleasantly. One of the boys cried out—

"Please, General, tell us how it was you moved that meat stone, up yonder, the other day?"

"Why, boys," said he smiling, "did I move the stone?"

"Uh, yas, General, you moved it—we all saw you."

"Well, boys," said the General, looking very well, boys," said the General, looking very well, boys, "said the General, looking very well, boys," said the General, looking very well, boys, "said the General, looking very well, boys," said the General, looking very well are the modelesing asony of rheumalism, neuralish, toothache, burne, reade, cuits, and brules, when applied outwardly. Away with those horrors of infant phenomena. Let mature alone, and du you, ignorant man, keep your great, coarse finger out of delicate machinery, which, working hy and through nature, will, at the proper moment, indicate the course to henery, which, working hy and through nature, will, at the proper moment, indicate the course to he pursued, the development which is sought. Permit childhood to guide you you in the treatment thereof. Nature is a wise teacher.

At infancy, the healthy body, incapable of progressive mution, demands rest; give then perfect quiet. Man searly life is a mero vegetative existence; the brain, gentily pulsaling, beneath the unformed bene, is not yet the seat of reason, but of instinct; while nature then demands entire repose, or at the most, pussive action, why should a harbarous nurse and ignorant mother urray the little form in thick embroidery, display it to the admiring multitude; handle it with thumping vibration, or spin it like a boourang in this altrivity of Fever and Ague.

FOR STATE TREASURER. Col. JAS. H. GARRARD.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1861. It has been repeatedly proved as clearly as a proposition so nearly self-evident esn be proved that no State of the Union has a Constitutional right, at its own mere will and pleasure, to secede from the Government, which the Constitution; declaring itself to be the supreme law of the land, established, for all federal purposes, directly over the people of the United States. It would be infinitely strango if the framers of the Constitution, in endenvoring to form a more perfect I'nion to ensure domestic tranquillity, to promote the general welfare, and to secure the blessings of liberty to the people of the United States and THEIR POSTERITY, should bave reserved to each of the old thirteen States and to each of the indefinite number of States that might thereafter be admitted into the Union, a separate right, at its own capricious option, to dissolve the Constitutional hands which connected them with the whole people. to imply such a reservation would be unreason able, absurd, auarchical, snicidal, and repug-Constitution, but to the nature of its direct ac tion upon individual American citizens, and to the great lending purposes avowed in the preamble of the instrument. If the framers of the Constitution had de signed to reserve to each State a Constitutional right to absolve its citizens from that para mount Federal allegiance, which, as being also citizens of the United States, they owe, by a direct line, and not circuitously through the States, to the Government of the United States, the reservation would have been surely express ed in positive and unmistakable terms. And it is difficult to say which would be most dishonoring to the illustrious framers of the Constitution-to suppose that the reservation was designed without being expressed, or to suppose that such an incongruous and pernicious

r servation was ever designed at all. It is impossible to observe the nice and wisey-contrived adjustment of constitutional checks e emparison which has been drawn between them has suffered no evils nt all. and the centripetal and the centrifugal force of the solar system. And as the framers of unconstitutional laws by some of the free States the Constitution could not have been blind to in relation to fugitives from service cun justify the wild and uncontrollable disorder and con- rebellion and revolution in Kentucky. fusion which would have resulted from engrafeing in the Constitution a right on the part of Kentucky to Idange into revolution because each and every State at any time to wreck by the Governor of Ohio violated the Constitument they were forming, it would be almost as with crime. unjust to charge them with incorporating in If anythin c, in addition to what has been free States of the Union.

man In the Kingdom.
The history of every country is full of such examples of success obtained by civility. The experience of every man farnishes, if we may recal the past, frequent instances where conciliator manners have made the fortunes of physiciety. lawyers, divines, politicians, and, indeed, indivi-duals of all pursuits. In being introduced to a stranger his affability or the reverse creates in stantaneously a preposession in behelf of, or awakens unconsciously a prejudice against him. To men rivility is in fact what beauly is to wo men—it is a general pessport to favor; a letter of recommende ion, written in language that every ranger understands.

The best of men have often injured themselves In even or men have often injured tacmselves by Iritability and consequent radeness, as the greatest of sconndrels have frequently succeeded by their plausible manners. Of two women equal in all other respects, the courteens one has twice the chance for fortune by meane of it.

Children, cultivate civility, politeness, and agreeable manners. They are cheap, and will be advantageous to you through life.

WARREN SPRINGS, Perry county, Pa. .? June 7th, 1560. set belones of the hands, jaw bones, & C., to have equilled in other dimensions its extraordinary height. Its position was considerably deeper in mother earth than that at which human skeletons are generally found. There was harely suffice of epperance of a coffin to prove that it had received proper interment, but everything connected with it indicates it having occupied its lonely tonement for several centuries.

1 itality in Horses.—Some experiments have redrulifrom up head, and an appll ation ence in tweeks keeps it free from any iteling or other unples are cently bean made by persons skilled in the veter-luary art, with a view of ascertaining how long horses may live without food in contingencies, as, for example, heing chut up in hesieged places. The following results have been noted: A horee may live for Iwenty-live days without solid food and merely drinking water. He may live seven-the space of Ien days, but with an unsufficient quantity of drink, the stownach is worn out. The above facts show the importence of weler in the sustenance of the horse, end the decire the enimal must feel to be supplied with it. A horse which hal been deprived of weler for three days drank eleven gallons in the space of three unitues.

To Stor Bleeding.—Asa Kemper, Ress county, thio, writes to the Auerican Agriculturist that bleeding from a wound on men or heast may be stopped by a mixture of wheat flour and romann sall, in equal parts, hound on with a cloth if the bleeding be profuse, use a large quentity say from one to thrae pints. It may be left up for hours of even days if necessary. In this manner he saved libe life of a horse which was bleeding from a wounded artery; the blocding ceased in five nitutes after the application. It was left on three days, when it worked loose, was easily removed, and the wound soon healed.
